Finish Your Medications, Even If You Feel Better

You have always been told to finish your antibiotics even if you are feeling better, but do you know why? Basically, it is to make sure the bacteria is dead. If you do not complete the treatment, you are only weakening the bacteria, they can adapt and get stronger which can cause a reinfection and make the bacteria resistant to the medications that are currently working against them. Let's make sure our future generations are protected and complete our medications as prescribed.
